

Call for Submissions: Angiology Prize 2025

Awarding excellence in clinically vascular medicine research!

The Swiss Society for Angiology (SSA) is pleased to announce the Angiology Prize 2025 – a prestigious award granted for an outstanding scientific project in the field of angiology. We are looking for a project that demonstrates scientific excellence, innovation, and clear clinical relevance – whether in basic research, clinical trials, or translational science. The prize will be awarded at the Congress of the German-speaking Societies for Vascular Surgery and the Union of Swiss Societies for Vascular Diseases, taking place from October 22 to 25, 2025, in Lucerne.

✓ Who can apply?

Eligible for submission are original research projects by physicians, researchers, and early-career scientists with a focus on angiology. Submissions must be publications or manuscripts published or submitted between January 1, 2024, and April 30, 2025.

💰 Award details

The Angiology Prize 2025 is endowed with CHF 10,000.–.

🏆 Award Ceremony

The prize will be awarded once to a single outstanding project.

✉️ Submission deadline

The award will be presented at the General Assembly of SSA
📅 October 22, 2025, from 18:30 to 19:30

📁 How to apply

August 31, 2025

To apply, please submit the following documents:

- A cover letter

Thanks to Sanofi – for years of committed support!

The Angiology Prize of the Swiss Society for Angiology (SSA) represents scientific excellence and clinically relevant research in vascular medicine. We are proud to award this prize year after year – made possible by the long-standing support of Sanofi, our trusted sponsor. This award would not be possible in its current form without Sanofi's continued commitment. On behalf of the SGA, we sincerely thank Sanofi for its enduring partnership and meaningful support of angiological research in Switzerland.
